

Case study – Automotive supplier

Designing and effectively managing a new network strategy with the 4flow iTMS in EMEA

Background

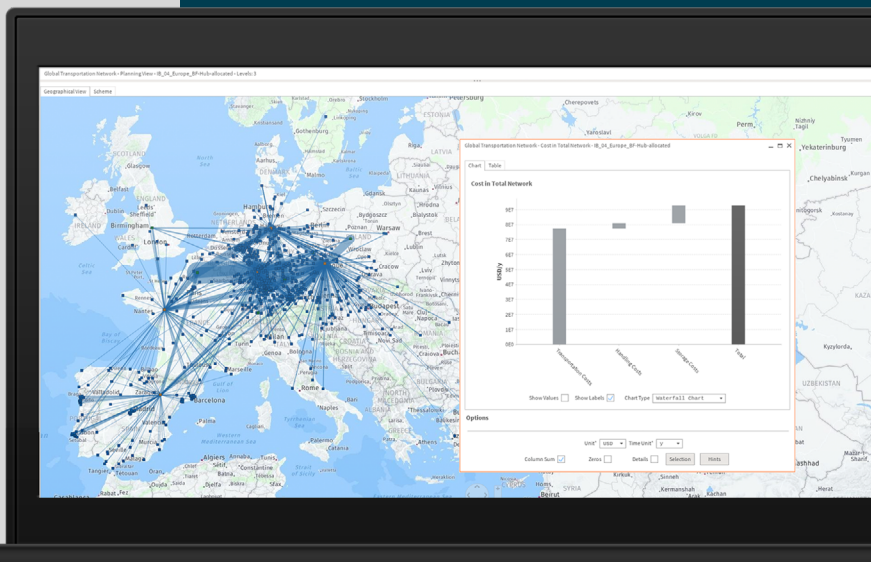

- > Change of project setup and partners involved: new logistics strategy to use shared hubs and introduce local consolidation points
- > Approx. 50 manufacturing plants included in the new network in EMEA
- > Tendering of all new and existing lanes for the whole transportation network

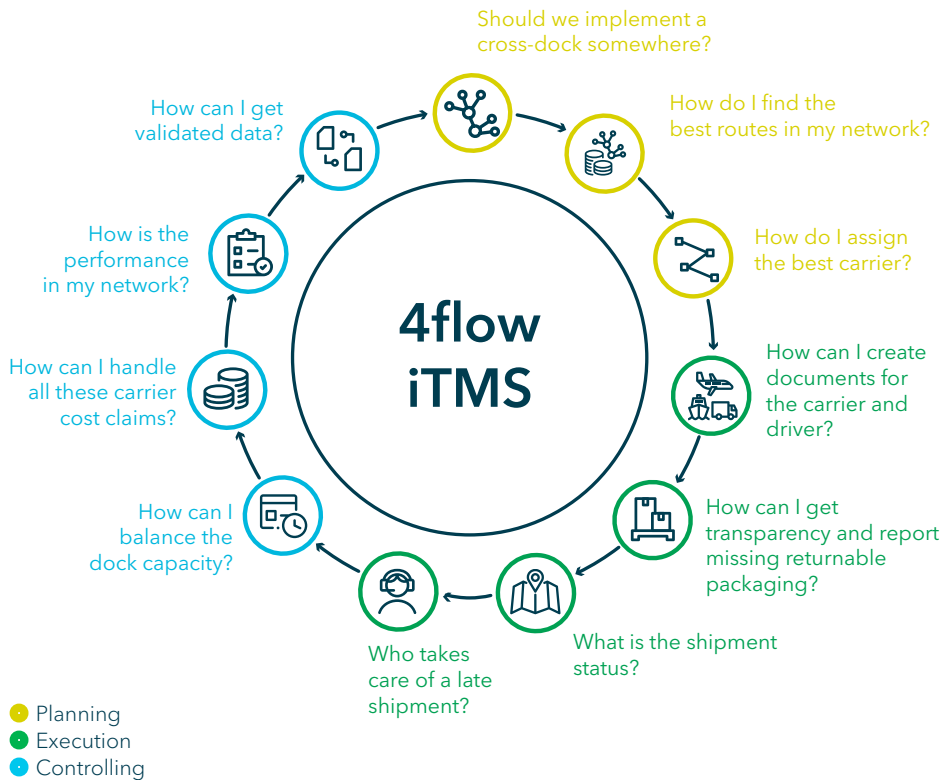

Project approach

- > Continuously and efficiently plan, optimize and adopt the inbound network structure
- > Evaluate current rate structure and identify tender needs
- > Determine optimal transportation mode and frequency based on the existing network structure and call-offs
- > Proactively identify all exceptions

Outcome and benefits

- 1 Transportation costs reduced by >15% and number of express shipments minimized
- 2 Transparency over network performance improved
- 3 Service level and material availability increased with exception handling
- 4 Plant efficiency increased
